The Lectures by the Medical Faculty of the University of McGill College, will be resumed on Monday, the 3rd November, 1862, and be continued throughout the winter, during the usual Session of six months' duration.

They are so arranged as to comprise all the important subjects of the several branches upon which they are delivered, and to elucidate them in as full a manner as the time allotted will permit. Yearly, such innovations are introduced as have been suggested by increased experience and as seem to be demanded by the progress of Medical Science. That they may be conversant with this, the Faculty procure for their Library the most modern works of highest reputation, and receive the principal weekly and other periodicals.

The means of illustration are also augmented from time to time, and during this Session it is intended to employ the new Microscope for class demonstrations, recently used by Prof. Beale of London, with so much approval, as well as a further collection of Microscopical preparations expressly made according to order by a competent artist.

The chief advantages that McGill College Students enjoy in the acquirement of a practical knowledge of their profession are afforded by:—

1st. Large hospitals (the Montreal General and the University Lying in,) where an extensive variety of cases may every day be examined and opportunities are taken to impart Clinical instruction upon the most approved principles.

2nd. Spacious accommodations and suitable conveniences for the prosecution of Practical Anatomy, together with the use of a museum containing both Anatomical and Pathological specimens in different methods of preservation.

During the past ten years the attendance of Matriculated Students has increased from 64, what it was in 1851–52, to 159, the number enrolled last Session, a difference which cannot altogether be explained upon the assumption that a greater proportion of pupils entered upon the Study of Medicine during that term than in former periods, for within the same time there have also arisen more schools for their instruction.

COURSES OF LECTURES.

The number of Professors in the Faculty is Nine; the number of Classes, Ten; two of the classes (often conjoined in European Schools) being held by one Professor.

1. ANATOMY.—(Prof. Scott)—The fresh subject is chiefly employed in the illustration of the Lectures in this branch, aided however, by dried preparations, wax models, plates full size of life, &c. The Dissecting Room is under the direction of the Professor, aided by the Demonstrator of Anatomy. It is open from 8 a.m. to 10 p.m., being lighted with gas. All the usual conveniences are supplied, and the Demonstrator will be in attendance to assist the pupils in their operations.

2. CHEMISTRY.—(Prof. Sutherland)—Inorganic Chemistry is fully treated; and a large portion of the course is devoted to Organic Chemistry and its relations to Physiology. The branches of Physics bearing upon or connected with Chemistry, also engage the attention of the class. For experimental illustration, abundant apparatus is possessed by the Professor, among which may be enumerated, a powerful Air Pump—Oxy-Hydrogen Microscope—Polariscope—Extensive series of Crystallographical models—Electrical and Galvanic appartus, &c., &c.

3. MATERIA MEDICA.—(Prof. Wright)—This course is illustrated by a Cabinet of Pharmacological objects; by Plates of Medicinal Plants, (Roque, Stephenson and Churchill)—by an Herbarium, and by the Microscope (Nachét) and Polariscope for examining Crystals.—Analytical experiments for detecting Adulterations, &c., are also shown, and diagrams, with other illustrations, are used.—Dietetics, Pharmacy, and Therapeutics are included in the course.

4. ISTITUTES OF MEDICINE.—(Prof. Fraser)—Under which are comprised Histology, Physiology, General Pathology and General Therapeutics. The minute Structure and Composition of the various Organs, and the Fluids and Tissues of the Body in health and disease, are explained and illustrated by Microscopic Preparations, Plates and Preparations from the Museum.

5. PRACTICE OF MEDICINE.—(Prof. Howard)—The extensive series of plates contained in the Library, Lebert's recent work, Cruveilhier, Carswell, Hope, Alibert, Willis, Bateman, &c., &c., will be employed; also Morbid Preparations and models of diseased parts.

6. Surgery.—(Prof. Campbell)—Divided into Principles and Practice, including Surgical Anatomy and Operative Surgery, exhibited on the subject.—Quain's large plates, Maclise, Dalrymple, &c. The various surgical instruments and apparatus exhibited, and their uses and application explained and practically illustrated.

7. Midwifery.—(Prof. Hall.)—Including diseases of females and infants, illustrated by a series of Drawings on a large scale; by humid preparations: by models in wax; and by the use of the artificial Pelvis.

8. Medical Jurisprudence.—(Prof. McCallum.)—Includes Toxicology—the modes of testing for poisons are exhibited, and post-mortem appearances illustrated by plates—Insanity, Public Hygiene, and Medical Police are touched upon.

9. Clinical Medicine.—(Prof. McCallum.)—Taught by lectures, and at the bed side—Physical Diagnosis taught practically and each pupil invited to take part in it—Examination of the urine, chemically and microscopically explained and illustrated.

10. Clinical Surgery.—(Prof. Craik.)—Taught in a similar manner. For both these Classes ample material is afforded by the cases at the Montreal General Hospital.

Beside the above classes, Students are required to attend one course of Botany and one course of Zoology.

LIBRARY AND MUSEUM.

The Library contains upwards of 3000 volumes, including the most useful books for reference, as well as the recent elementary ones; the works of the older authors as well as the most recent. It is open to the Students without charge, under necessary regulations for the care of the books. The Museum contains a large number of preparations, chiefly pathological; also, wax and papier maché models.

HOSPITALS.

The Montreal General Hospital is visited every day by the Medical officers in attendance. After the visit a large number of out-door patients are examined and prescribed for.

The Operating Room (used also for a Lecture Room) is so constructed as to suit the convenience of the Students in obtaining a good view of the operations going on.

The University Lying-in-Hospital is under the direction of the Professor of Midwifery. Students who have already attended one course of his lectures, are furnished with cases in rotation.
